

Industrias Culturales

Cultural Center of Spain (CCE)
Center for Latin American Studies,
University of Miami
and
Organization of Ibero
American States (OEI)
present:

LATINO CULTURAL INDUSTRIES IN THE UNITED STATES

A series of professional forums on cultural industries
Presented by George Yúdice and German Rey

November 19-21, 2008 | 6:00- 9:00 pm
University of Miami, Coral Gables, FL

The development of cultural industries in Spanish is closely linked to the location of its products in American markets. For years now, the presence of Hispanic TV channels, newspapers and magazines in Spanish, satellite and cable TV networks, music producers, television production and distribution companies, video and Internet content, has increased in the United States.

Numerous cultural corporations from Latin America are permanently and actively linked to American media and cultural organizations, while a notorious group has opened operation centers, especially in Miami. This city has turned into a key center for the creation, acknowledgement and consumption of cultural industries in America, while the increase in Latino population in the United States, the positive reception of cultural Latino products and the increase in Spanish speaking population have favored these relationships. Latino Cultural Industries will feature three days of roundtables including art, music, media and audiovisual and Miami open to professionals, faculty, students and selected guests.

Wednesday November 19th

College of Arts and Sciences Wesley Gallery
6:00-7:30 pm
Opening and Introduction Germán Rey and
George Yúdice
7:45-9:00 pm
The Music Industry
(in Spanish)

Thursday November 20th

UM Learning Center, Room 130
6:00-9:00 pm
Media and Audiovisual Industries
(in Spanish)

Friday November 21st

College of Arts and Sciences Wesley Gallery
6:00-7:30 pm
Visual and Plastic Arts Industries
(in Spanish)
7:45-9:00 pm
Creative Cities: Miami as a creative city and as a production and distribution center
(in English)

For more information and RSVP call CCE at 305 448 9677

