

CLASTM

CENTER FOR
LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES
AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

The Haiti Research Group presents

Gina Athena Ulysse

Associate Professor of Anthropology and African American Studies,
Wesleyan University, and Performance and Multi-Media Artist performing:

“Because When God is Too Busy: Haiti, me and THE WORLD”

Photo credit: Andy-Vernon Jones

In this work, Dr. Ulysse weaves spokenword and Vodou chants to reflect on childhood memories, social (in)justice, spirituality, and the dehumanization of Haitians. She offers critical musings on geopolitics from the perspective of a Haitian-American woman who is bent on loving Haiti, loving Vodou and herself despite the odds. This performance will be followed by a “talk-back” with the audience, and is free of charge and open to the public.

Monday, March 9th

7:00PM

College of Arts and Sciences Wesley Gallery
1210 Stanford Drive

Parking: Free parking in the Pavia Parking Garage after 4 pm. Turn off Ponce de Leon Blvd onto Stanford Dr (main entrance to the Coral Gables campus); take second left onto Geo. E. Merrick; take first left onto Pavia; garage is on the right. Walk back to 1210 Stanford Dr.

Co-Sponsored by: Program in Women's and Gender Studies, Department of Anthropology, Africana Studies Program, and Latin American Studies Degree Programs

For more information: umclas@miami.edu