

UGalilee Spring 2010

Program Features

- Take five University of Miami courses taught by UM and Israeli scholars for a total of 15 UM credits.
- Earn credits in Religion, History, Anthropology, Geography, Philosophy, or Judaic Studies.
- Participate in faculty-led study trips to sites such as Jerusalem, Nazareth, Tel Aviv, the Golan, Caesarea, Sea of Galilee, Haifa, and Masada.
- Live for a full semester with Israeli students at the ORT-Braude College campus in Karmiel, a modern city in the Galilee, a bus ride away from Israel's major centers.
- Earn a Judaic Studies Minor while studying in the Galilee, the birthplace of Rabbinic Judaism and Early Christianity.

What is UGalilee?

UGalilee is the University of Miami's campus in Israel, located in Karmiel, the center of the Galilee, where the countryside is the classroom.

The semester-long program combines lectures with field work as students are enrolled in courses that are taught by UM and Israeli faculty.

After successfully completing the semester, participating students will have earned humanities and social science credits and a Judaic Studies Minor.

UM students can use existing scholarship or tuition remission to cover course tuition. Non-UM students may be eligible for scholarships, depending on the availability of funds.

The deadline for applications for UGalilee 2010 is October 1, 2009. Late applications will be considered on a space-available basis.

Courses offered in 2010:

- Human and Material Culture in the Ancient Galilee
- Archaeological Survey in the Galilee
- The Rise of Christianity and Rabbinic Judaism in the Galilee
- Galilee "Mosaic" – Aspects of the Galilee Region
- Jewish Thought over the Ages

For more information contact:

The George Feldenkreis Program in Judaic Studies:

Phone: (305) 284-8180
 Email: ugalilee@miami.edu
 Web: <http://ugalilee.miami.edu>

Supported by the Citizens Board at the University of Miami

