Merrick Building 201, MLL Language Lab

Dr. Telles coordinates “Teletandem Brasil – Foreign Languages for All,” a pedagogical project that uses Internet technology to match language students at Brazilian universities with students learning Portuguese in other countries. With tandem language learning, each partner learns and practices the language of study for one hour. In the second half of the session, the students switch roles and languages. Dr. Telles’ lecture will explain the project in detail in hopes of establishing new partnerships with universities in Florida.
