1. I loved being able to apply prior knowledge to real life experiences and listening to the passion that Dr. Kanet obviously has for what he is teaching about. I would suggest perhaps forcing more discussion from the class. I understand that it’s hard at times to get students involved due to shyness, but I believe there’s a lot of potential for discussion with this topic if participation points would be awarded for class discussion.

2. Excellent Professor.

Q11 - Please provide any additional suggestions and comments.

Just a few points:

- I loved this class. It was my most interesting class this semester.
- I guess you are aware that maybe only or two people in the class were actually reading the materials. I’ve tried to read them the whole semester. I barely completed any of them which frustrated me a lot! I understand why you assign them, and honestly I’m happy you send them all by email because I’m going to able to catch upon the readings during the summer. But I really and honestly didn’t have enough time to read them all carefully. I’m not sure whether you can find shorter readings...but maybe there a way to assign less of them, but to have reading quiz to make sure that students actually read them.
- Powerpoint: it was a lot better when you started to send the powerpoint before the class.
- I liked the class presentations (but the ones where they were just reading the powerpoint)
- I think everybody expected to spend more time on current issues like we did at the end, and less time on historical facts. Although, I personally like it like that, I know that many of us would have rather talk more about current topics.
- I’ll remain impressed by how much you know...thank you for keeping teaching!!

Dr. Kanet is extraordinarily knowledgeable on his given field of expertise. It is a humbling experience to be able to experience his vast array of teachings available to be pulled from any given area in theoretical or contemporary politics and political analysis. He has a slightly critical and negative outlook on political theories for the future, but he evidently hopes for the best. His intelligence shines through in that he is no foolish optimist. This guy is a seasoned political theorist.
