- exams were straightforward and applicable to the content of the lectures. in the future, perhaps it would be interesting to show a few short videos to break up the lectures a little more
- There is a lot of information to present within this course but is structured well enough to get it all in.

-	Not interested in the course topic, but it was made interesting by the stories told to compliment the material
-	Learning about the military and defense policy was very interesting to me, especially in with the new administration in the White House making some changes. I enjoyed reading the articles from blackboard and felt they were presented in an organized manner using the outlines.
-	Very heavy, though Obama could have given us the budget!!
-	interesting topic that covers great and diverse topics
-	I found the course content to be fascinating and I often reflected upon it outside of class.
-	Very interesting material.
-	It is my opinion that there should be a written assignment in this course to take away from the pressures having to take of 3 tests that make up your entire grade .

Q11 - Suggestions and comments about the instructor:

-	Although I learned a lot from the course and enjoyed it, I do think students might also benefit from a little more interaction between their classmates and between Professor Dreyer.
-	The professor is well versed in the subject. This allows us, the students, to ask as many questions as possible knowing a well-valued answer will be given to us.
-	I think the instructor is great. She knows what she is talking about, unlike other teachers at UM. She is interesting to listen to and is one of the best professors at UM.
-	Dr. Dreyer is my favorite professor in the political science department. She not only has experience in the defense field which she shares with the class but also knows many of the people who write the articles for our class and can expand upon their opinions to make sure we have a clear understanding. The exams are challenging and require that each student knows the material very well because all of the questions are in essay format. I enjoyed Dr. Dreyer's class very much and her ability to speak about any topic in history or modern times regarding defense policy.
-	Dr. Dreyer is awesome. I love her lecturing style.
-	really loves the topic and loves to teach
-	Professor Dreyer is a phenomenal professor who possesses a wealth of knowledge about defense policy and she also has a lot of experience that adds to the course.
-	The professor does an excellent job of conveying her expertise.
